Call for Proposals

The BSA, with a membership of over 2500, is the professional association for sociologists and sociological research in the United Kingdom. With its extensive network of members, the BSA hosts an annual conference and regular events staged by over fifty active study groups and forums. Study group topics range from auto/biography to youth, climate change to violence against women, alcohol to sport, and Bourdieu to Weber.

This book series, inspired by the vibrant wealth of BSA symposia on a wide variety of sociological themes, will not only enable the fruits of these events to reach a wider audience, but also offers a new outlet for sociologists at all career and publishing stages, from the well-established to emerging sociologists, BSA or non-BSA members, from all parts of the world.

The series welcomes proposals for monographs and edited collections on a wide range of topics related to sociology and sociological research and will feature contemporary work that is theoretically and methodologically innovative, has local or global reach, as well as work that engages or reengages with classic debates in sociology bringing new perspectives to important and relevant topics.

Edited by a team of experienced sociological researchers, and supported by the BSA, the series aims to be a flagship for new and innovative theories, methods and approaches to sociological issues and debates and 'the social' in the 21st century.
