

MedSoc Early Career Pre-Conference Event

Tuesday 12th September, afternoon
York University

The BSA Medical Sociology group is pleased to announce an event for PhD students and post-doctoral researchers working in medical sociology. The afternoon event offers delegates the opportunity to meet peers working in the medical sociology discipline prior to the main-conference. This year we have talks focusing on success with grants/fellowships, maintaining a strong publishing profile and varied avenues for impact. Dr Kehinde Andrews will provide a keynote that draws links between medical sociology and sociological activism more widely.

The event will include presentations on:

- How to get published – papers, as well as books for wider audiences
- Grant applications – lessons learned through successes and failures
- Balancing interests and activism with the academic career ladder
- Roundtable discussion on post-doctoral careers

Delegate rates:

Cost includes pre-conference event, lunch and refreshments.

BSA Members - £45,

Non-BSA Members - £75
