

CALL FOR NEW CONVENOR(S)

Historical and Comparative Sociology Study Group

We are relaunching the Historical & Comparative Sociology Study Group. The group aims to provide a forum for sociologists/social scientists using history and historical methods in their research and/or teaching.

As the group is being revived this is a chance to help fundamentally define and design our aims and activities. While specific roles are often negotiated within the team of Convenors, tasks and responsibilities can include:

- Organising occasional events/workshops
- Organising a journal/book club
- Maintaining the Study Group mailing list with JISCMail
- Managing any Study Group social media accounts
- Liaising with the BSA, including writing a short annual report outlining Study Group activities
- Representing the study group at BSA Study Group meetings

Besides these duties, the new Convenors will be able to propose and introduce new initiatives which further the aims of the Study Group and represent the interests of its members. The Convenor role is open to academics of any career stage and Early Career Researchers are encouraged to apply. Convenors must be BSA members and maintain their membership for the duration of their tenure in the role.
